The sport of gliding has always been a domain where skill, strategy, and teamwork converge to create thrilling experiences and competitive excellence. As we strive to advance the sport and promote inclusivity, we propose a progressive change in the 20 Metre Multi-seat Class competitions. Specifically, we recommend that - starting from the 2026 competitive season - teams in this class consist of pilots of different genders.

1. Promoting Gender Equality:

By mandating mixed-gender teams, we take a significant step towards gender equality in gliding. This initiative will ensure that both male and female pilots have equal opportunities to participate, compete, and excel at the highest levels of the sport.

2. Enhancing Team Dynamics:

Diverse teams often bring varied perspectives and complementary skills. Mixed-gender teams can benefit from different viewpoints and approaches to problem-solving, potentially leading to improved performance and innovation in strategies.

3. Encouraging Wider Participation:

This change can attract greater interest and participation from female pilots, who may feel more encouraged to join and compete in a sport traditionally dominated by males. This should serve as an inspiration for young, aspiring, female pilots and help in building a more balanced and inclusive gliding community.

Sports organizations worldwide are increasingly recognizing the importance of diversity and inclusion. By adopting this policy, the International Gliding Committee will be at the forefront of promoting these values, aligning our sport with contemporary societal standards and expectations.
